All you wanted to know about dovetail jigs in 45 minutes or less by Bill Cox

Bill is an instructor at Palomar College and was this years SDFWA 1st place winner along with Sponsor's Choice Award at the Design in Wood show. Bill will tell us about the different types of dovetail jigs, their applications, along with purchase considerations and recommendations. To completely learn all the features of jigs would probably fill a weekend, but Bill will have a limited number of handouts to support his presentation. Hopefully this will help many of us to better utilize any of these jigs.

Shop Tour

Out of the Blue Design Studio

On Saturday August 14th, 2004, at 9am we will have a shop tour of Out of the Blue Design Studio.

Out of the Blue Design Studio opened in 1998 and is a partnership between Duane Bartok, Elizabeth Friedrich, Bob Gromofsky and Glenn Paculba. The Partnership's mission is to create and maintain a studio space with tools for use by its partners and tenants. Partners and tenants design and build work that is shown around the country and in local venues such as Trios Gallery, Sumner and Dene, The Woodcrafters Design Gallery and the Design in Wood Exhibition.

The studio space is approximately 3,000 square feet, divided into a tool room and a bench room. The tool room includes a variety of stationary woodworking tools and some metalsmithing tools along with lumber storage. In the bench room, each partner and tenant has a metal storage cabinet, space for their bench and space for non-lumber storage.

The partners and tenants have produced a variety of work here, including: fine woodworking, cabinetry, upholstery, stained glass, metal furniture and sculpture, cement furniture, pottery and jewelry. Currently there are 4 partners and 7 tenants.

To reach the studio, take 8 to the 70th Street exit. Go south on 70th Street to El Cajon Blvd and take a right. The street number is 6608 El Cajon Blvd., (in the third block, just past Montezuma & Ralph's) the building is bright blue, and the studio is in the basement story under the 99-cent store. Parking on the street is free. On the left of the building is a staircase that leads to the Out of the Blue loading dock.

I hope to see you there!

From the President...

The 21st Design In Wood show is over and once again, thanks to all the volunteers, it was a great success. Each year it is a little different and each year it gets better. To quote Fine Woodworking magazine, San Diego Fine Woodworking Association's annual Design In Wood show is the "best woodworking show in the nation". Bob Stevenson, his staff and volunteers deserve our gratitude for all their hard work. We have some great volunteers who each year devote their time during setup, tear down and during the show to make this show the great success it is. We really appreciate all your help. The chair shop produced 50 chairs again this year. They will be available for you to pick up and finish at the meeting. Finishing instructions are included so take one or two chairs to finish over the summer. I had several recipients of our chairs come up to the chair shop and thank us for our donations. It makes it all worthwhile to see how much they are treasured. However, we were short on volunteers again this year in all areas but especially walking the floor, setup and tear down and for the chair shop. We were really short for floor walking duty. We are at the point of having to hire people and with 1500 plus members we should not have to do this. Floor walking during the fair is the easiest duty and can be the most rewarding. Just ask any of the volunteers who did it this year. Let me or any of the board members know why you did not volunteer or what we can do better to get you to volunteer for at least one shift at the fair. We give tickets, provide food and drink during setup and tear down and coffee and cold drinks during the fair. It doesn't take much to walk the floor and answer questions. Just make sure people aren't dripping their ice cream on the furniture. Ask the volunteers who worked the fair and see how much fun they had. We need your help!

We have a lot happening in the next few months. Bosch Tools is providing an event with demos and special prices for SDFWA members with DINNER INCLUDED. I know you woodworkers can't pass up free food. See page 4 for more information.

We have another great fall seminar planned. Power tool Joinery with Yeung Chan. Yeung is a leading furniture designer, craftsman, and teacher from California. Get your tickets at the meeting to insure getting your book at the seminar. See the flyer in this issue for more information.

Our program this month is Bill Cox demonstrating different types of dovetail jigs and their use. You don't want to miss this one.

Don't forget to get a chair to take home, finish and bring to the next meeting.

See you at the meeting.

Ed Gladney, President

Pro Bono Thank You Letters

May 26, 2004

San Diego Fine Woodworkers:

Our sincere thanks and appreciation go to the many San Diego Fine Woodworkers who made possible the recent donation of two small children's tables, 8 table chairs, 9 dolls in wooden cradles, 2 large wooden airplanes, 2 small wagons, and close to 100 small wooden cars and trucks.

The tables and chairs will shortly be placed in the waiting room of our newest community health clinic, the City Heights Family Health Center at 54th Street and El Cajon Blvd, and in the soon-to-be refurbished waiting room at our North Park Family Health Center on 30th Street. The wagons, doll cradles and airplanes have been distributed to our three Family Resource Centers---in Logan Heights, North Park and Spring Valley---where developmental and support activities for children 0-5 years of age and their parents are offered. The box of wooden toys will be used as small token items for children who receive immunizations.

Again, thank you so much for your continued support of our efforts to provide affordable, accessible, quality healthcare to many of San Diego's uninsured population.

Sincerely,

Nancy Bryant Wallis, DrPH, LCSW

Fine Woodworkers Association -Toy Committee C/o James Vitale

Dear Mr. Vitale and Toy Committee:

As the coordinator for SAY San Diego's Start Smart program, I want to thank you for your recent donation to our program. The beautifully made wooden toys bring much delight to the children and families who participate in the Start Smart program. We serve hundreds of children over the course of each year in our school readiness program. You give us outstanding items, and we are proud to be a regular beneficiary of your good work.

I hope it brings you satisfaction to know that the families we work with could never afford the quality of workmanship your items represent. They love to play with the doll beds, pull toys, cars, tops, and everything else you donate. We use the items in all of our classroom locations, as well as special gifts to the children at the time of the home visit.

Thank you for all you do for us. We appreciate it greatly.

Sincerely,

Ellen Yaffa , SAY San Diego. Start Smart Project

2004 Kezurou-Kai, USA At Palomar College

The Cabinetmaking & Furniture Technology Department at Palomar College is honored to host, for the second time, Kezurou-Kai, USA. This woodworking conference will feature over a dozen Japanese master craftsman, temple builders, blacksmiths, tool makers, and woodworking experts. They will be teaching and demonstrating their tools and techniques. In addition, Japanese hand plane contests, consisting of the thinnest wood shavings made with a hand plane and the thinnest crosscut with a hand saw, are traditional highlights at the event. Start sharpening your favorite hand plane now and come test your skill. This 2-Day event will take place September 4-5, 2004 at Palomar College in San Marcos.

The Kezurou-Kai, USA sponsor is Hida Tools from Berkley, CA. They will offer an impressive variety of fine Japanese woodworking tools, hand planes, chisels, waterstones and saws. For event registration or further information contact Hida Tools at (800) 443-5512 or www.hidatool.com Pre-registration costs $50 (fifty dollars) for the 2 days or $65 at the door. For fall classes or to check out the last Kezurou-Kai at Palomar College go to, www.palomar.edu/woodworking

News From The California Carvers Guild

California Carvers Guild is a loose collection of eccentrics, all of whom feel a serious need to chop away at their hands with an assortment of sharp objects. We are between 900 & 1,000 "strong", scattered among 50 or so "chapters" statewide. Somewhere around a dozen wood shows, per year, are held up and down the state, each hosted by one of the chapters. Membership in the Guild is $25/yr for individuals, $40 for "family", and $2 for Juniors (under 16).

A central feature of each show is a carving competition. All entries are judged using an objective system originating in this state some 20 years ago, and refined over the years to what is now, I think, the best judging method available. Of interest to each of you are the following entry categories:

|----|--|
| TR | Turning |
| TC | Turning with Carved Decoration |
| UT | Utilitarian its primary "function" is use rather than decoration |
| WC | Wood Crafting |
| WD | Wood Crafting with Carved Decoration |
| MI | Miscellaneous --- what doesn't fit well in any other category |

The real reason for this short article is to encourage all of you to consider joining our organization (you must in order to enter the competition) and, equally as important, display your fine woodworking at our shows. Exhibitor tables run $15 - $20 a table; all shows are "selling" shows (you must have your own seller's license).

Nearby shows are: San Diego (Memorial Day weekend), San Jacinto (usually early March), Tustin (late October), and Riverside (usually early April).

For more detailed information, call Virg Krueger (760) 967-7353, or e-mail me at <carverstwo@aol.com>.

You'll enjoy the experience!

Design in Wood

The 23rd Annual Design in Wood was an extreme success in spite of mediocre volunteer turnout by members. We had great help setting up and the new display cases helped to enhance the takedown. The volunteer signups for staffing, the largest woodworking exhibition of its kind anywhere, was lacking. This is by far the best opportunity for people to show their work and for the public to see it. We had 1,250,320 people at the Fair this year and a very large majority of them told us they came just to see the woodworking. We had guests from Annapolis, MD, to Phoenix, AZ, and from British Columbia to Mexico. We were told over and over how beautiful the exhibit was and how much it improves each year.

To all those involved – volunteers, staff, and participants – thanks for all of your support and efforts. The Chair shop made over 51 solid oak children's chairs. The scrollers, carvers, turners, and the Maritime Museum folks all did a great job.

Helping to staff the exhibit is a pleasure in disguise and a real learning experience. You would be surprised how much you can learn by answering people's questions about the various pieces in the exhibit. This year we introduced new vests that allowed the guests to identify the SDFWA volunteers and to know who was there to help them. Next year I hope you will be able to sign up for a couple of shifts and support our wonderful exhibit.

You could also start working on next year's piece now. Then next year you can enter it and tell the public how it was made.

Again, a great big thanks to everyone who helped.

P.S. I have a 2' step ladder left at the Design in Wood Show. If it's yours, please contact me.

Bob Stevenson, Shows & Exhibits Chairman

Design in Wood's Chair Shop at The San Diego County Fair

By the end of the Fair, Design in Wood's 19th century chair shop did complete 50 straight chairs designed for children. This fall, the chairs will eventually be donated to schools and organizations that requested them. "We usually get about four (chairs completed) a day," says Ed Gladney. Throughout the Fair, the chair shop is manned by at least 100 volunteers who are members of the San Diego Fine Woodworkers Association, which is a co-sponsor of the Design in Wood exhibit.

"What we do in front of the public is all hand done", adds Gladney, who has been the president of the San Diego Fine Woodworkers Association for three years. If you ever wondered what a chair shop might have looked like circa 1850, Gladney and his fellow volunteers' work space, offers a good approximation of what it might have looked like. Gladney says the wooden pieces of the chairs arrive at the Fair in a rough-cut form. Then, the volunteers proceed to refine these elements using such age-old tools as the inshave and travisher to shape the chair seats, and draw knives to shape the legs. These wood pieces are eventually assembled and find their rightful spot in the assembly line of handcrafted chairs waiting to be finished. The chairs are then finished by members of the San Diego Fine Woodworking Association prior to their distribution to whatever organization is requesting them as a donation.

. In addition to the chair shop area, Design in Wood includes booths for California Carvers Guild, the Maritime Museum Model Builders, San Diego Woodturning Association, and the San Diego County Scroll Saw Clubs.
