Community Outreach

Design In Wood News

I wish I had better news, but there will be no 2021 DIW exhibition.

There was a Coordinators' Zoom meeting last week and we were informed that there are no in-person exhibits planned for this year. Nothing in the buildings. We will have another Zoom meeting next month. There is no staff in the exhibits office and no staff to help with any setup. They do not have a date for getting back in operation. There was mention of possibly having "something in the Fall," around late September but nothing concrete. They are currently using the fairgrounds' buildings for Covid vaccine shots.

Woodworking Community Articles

SDFWA's 40th Anniversary!!!

To celebrate of our Association's 40th anniversary, here is the second of Jeff Bratt's continuing series of history articles.

Part 1 of his very detailed and interesting record of the early years of our Design In Wood Exhibition at the Southern California Fair in Del Mar can be read Here >>

Since we have so many insatiably inquisitive New Members these days, we're re-highlighting some of our favorite articles written by our own Dick Ugoretz.

Sandpaper

Unless you are both a master hand planer and working on wood blessed with reasonably calm grain you have to resort to sanding to achieve a truly smooth surface. Learn what you need to know about sandpaper from our Dick Ugoretz back in June of 2015.

Projects Built

Here is a fireplace surround that Bryan Blacksher completed before Thanksgiving. It's made of solid red oak. The tricky part was the curved arch that extends back to the tile. It was done using the bent wood lamination technique which John Rieger advised him on.
